FADE IN:

INT. APARTMENT - DAY

A loud buzz.

CLOSE ON THE DRIER. It rumbles to a stop. The dial at off.

DIDI (29) totes a laundry basket to the dryer in the laundry closet at the back of the living room. She's mellow, with a big flannel shirt and black leggings on.

A modest, one-bedroom apartment. The wall-mounted TV on in the background.

She kneels down at the dryer, opens the door, then scoops out clothes into the basket.

She shuffles through the clothes in the basket. Grabs a couple of lone socks.

DIDI
What? C'mon.

She reaches around in the dryer. She pokes her head in, checks the cracks. Nothing.

She throws down the lone socks, frustrated.

DIDI
You've gotta be kidding me.

She stares into the empty dryer.

SIDE VIEW of Didi staring to the left at the dryer. We move through the wall, into

INT. MIRROR APARTMENT - CONTINUOUS

A parallel, mirror world where another Didi kneels down at the dryer. She wears darker flannel, has darker hair.

She pulls out three lone socks. Stuffs them into a basket.

INT. MIRROR APARTMENT BEDROOM - DAY

Dark Didi opens a dresser drawer filled with lone socks. She tosses in her new collection.

A wry smirk creeps across her face.

FADE OUT.
